

A new version of the Digital Power project is ready.

The most obvious aspect are the power connections that have been studied in anticipation of the possibility of producing higher power Digital Power.